The screenshot shows the iEARN website homepage. At the top, there is a browser window with the address bar showing 'www.iearn.org'. Below the browser window, there is a search bar and a 'PROJECT COLLABORATION CENTRE >' button. The iEARN logo is prominently displayed, followed by the tagline 'Learning with the world, not just about it ...'. A language selection dropdown menu is set to 'Sélectionner une langue' and a 'DONATE' button is visible. A navigation menu includes 'ABOUT', 'COUNTRIES', 'IMPACT', 'PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT', 'NEWS', 'EVENTS', and 'JOIN/CONTACT US'. The main content area features a large image of four people holding flowers, with a caption: 'As part of global 2014 iEARN MAD Day Celebrations on October 28th, iEARN participants in Tunisia conduct a flower campaign to encourage voting.' To the right of this image is a blue box with white text: '140 Countries', '30 Languages', '50,000 Educators', '2 Million Youth', and a paragraph describing iEARN as the world's largest non-profit global network. Below the main image, there are two columns: 'Events' and 'News'. The 'Events' column lists the '5th Annual Global Education Conference' (November 17-21, 2014) and the 'Natural Disaster Youth Summit 2015' (January 15-18, 2015). The 'News' column features a headline 'iEARN participants around the world are Making a Difference on MAD Day!' with a sub-headline and a 'Read More >' link. A small photo of a group of people is included. On the right side, there is a 'JOIN THE IEAR Collaboration Centre' section with a photo of a group of people and a 'Read More >' link.

Tunisia

In Tunisia, TEARN (iEARN-Tunisia) 9Avril1938 High School organized a "1000 vote flowers" event in Sfax, as a sensitizing campaign. As Tunisia voted on October 26th to elect its first Democratic Assembly after the Constitution, TEARN thought it was highly important to take part in this national event. So, students under 18 who don't have the right to vote yet, bought 1000 roses and walked around the city and offered them to old people, urging them to vote.
